

Systems approach in education in Pilsen region, Czech Republic

Mr. Vlastimil Volak,
Headteacher, Training College and Secondary School of Electrical Engineering in Pilsen

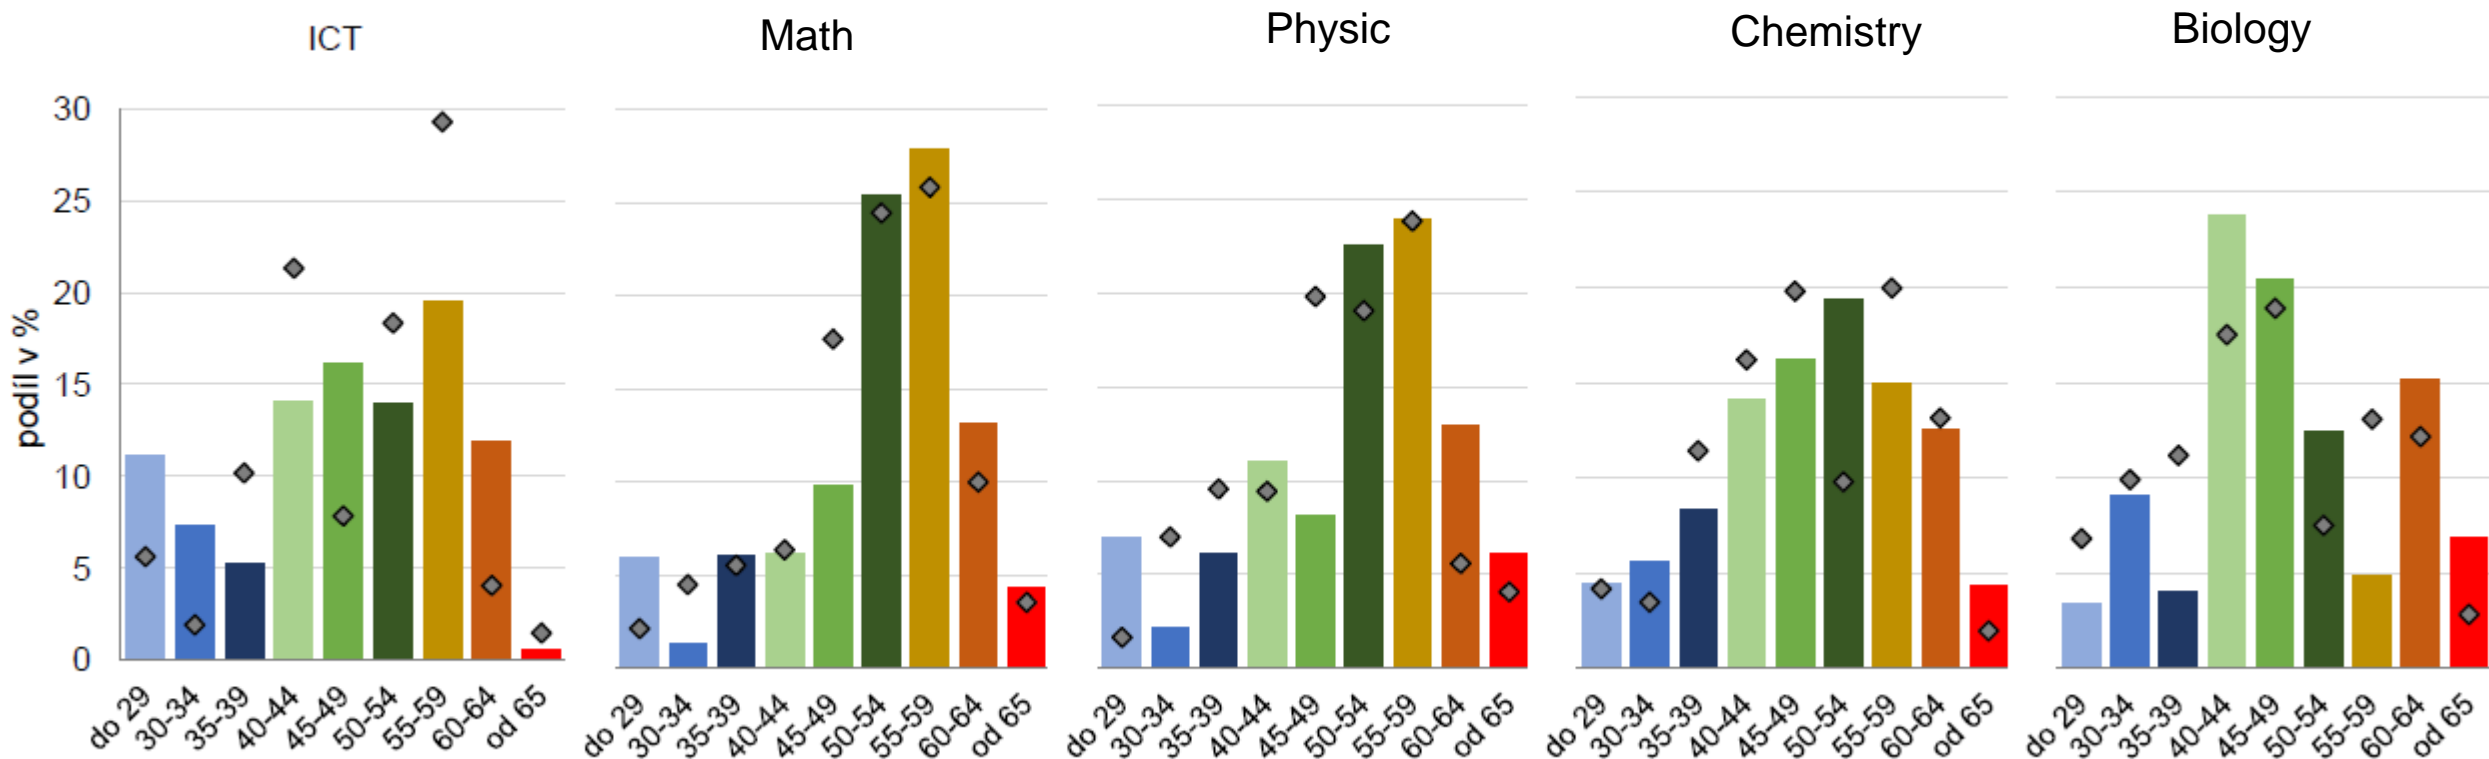

„in the EU: A Shared Challenge and Good Practices”
November 19th in Brussels, Belgium

Systems approach in education

- Challenges in education
- teacher shortages in primary and secondary education
- digitalisation of E&T
- personalised learning
- traineeships and apprenticeships
- well-being of learners, teachers, school leaders and other education staff
- Lifelong learning
-

Systems approach in education

Chart P2: Age structure of teachers of general education subjects in the Pilsen Region science subjects

Zdroj dat: OŠMS KÚ PK

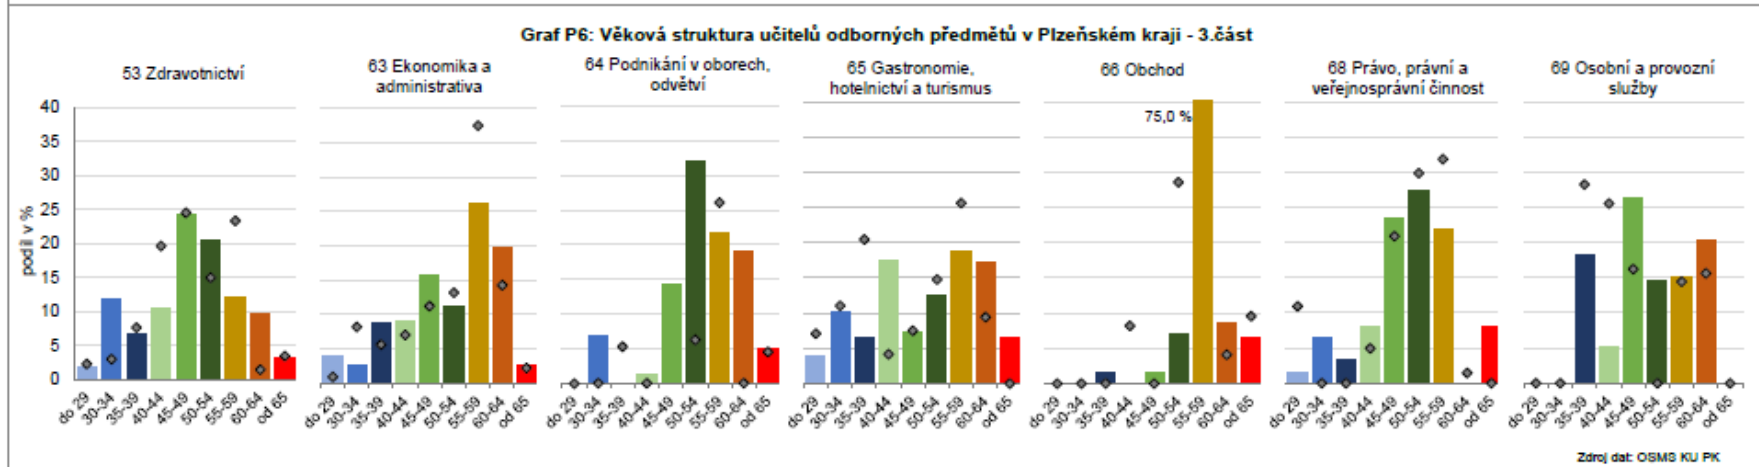

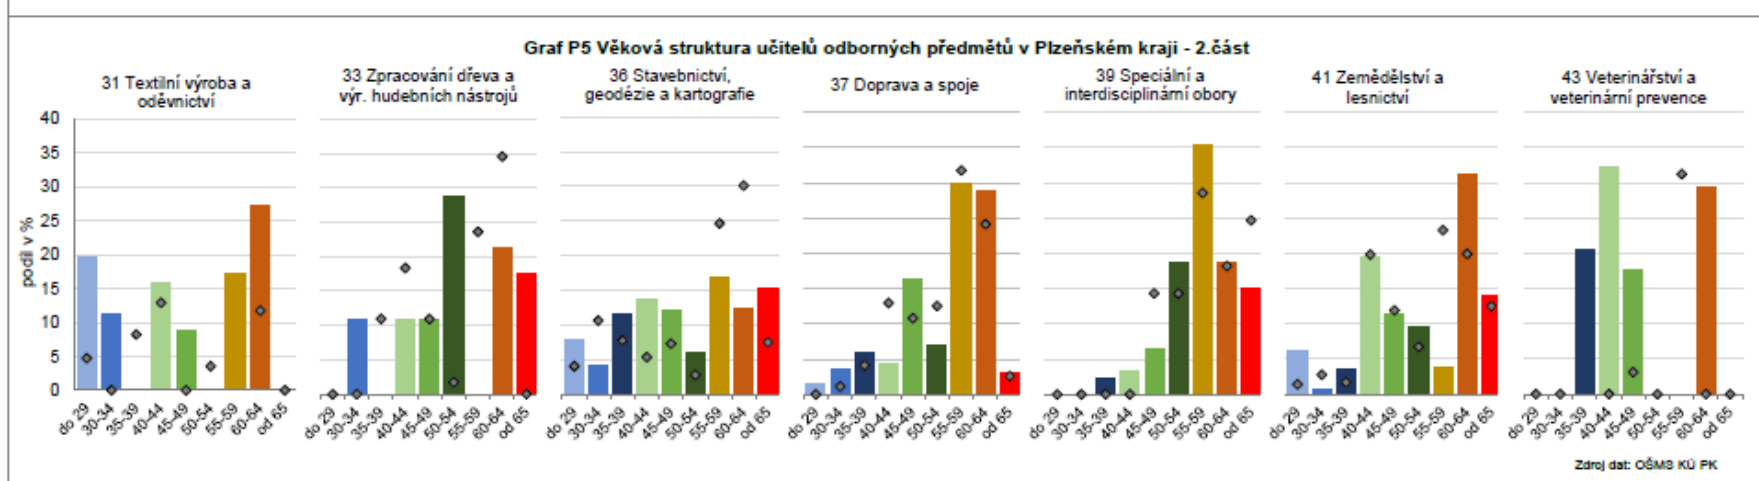

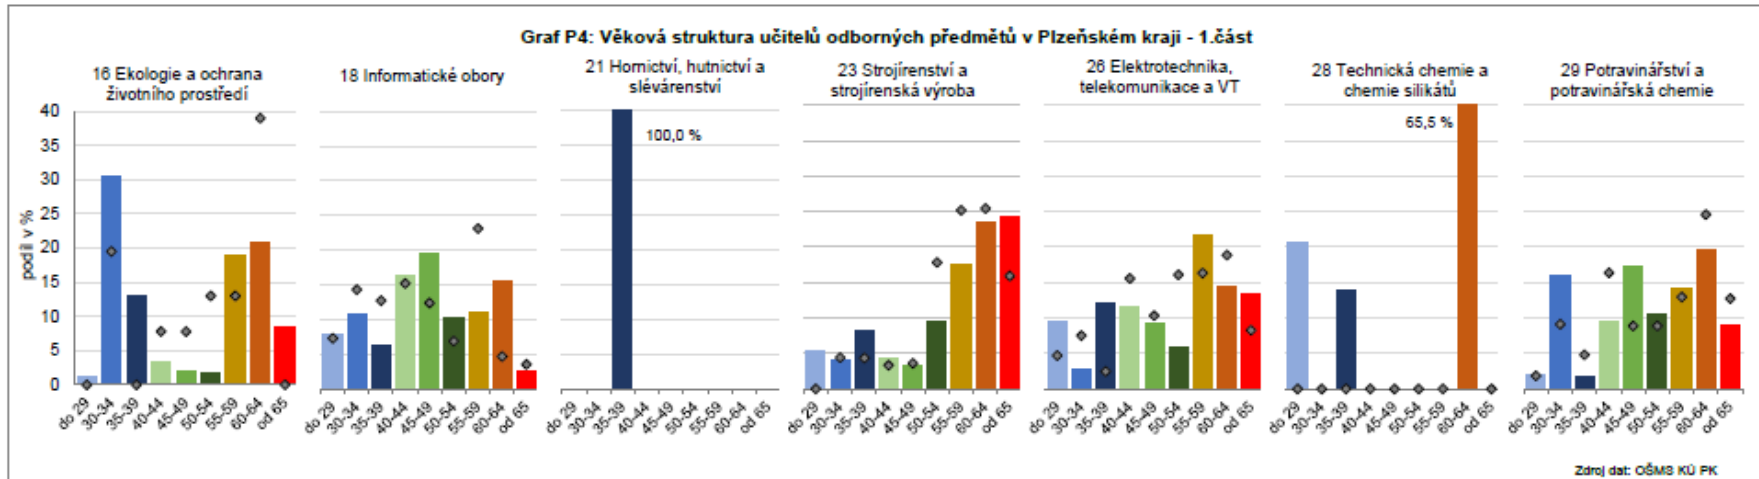

Chart P4: Age structure of teachers of vocational subjects in the Pilsen region

Systems approach in education

Strategies x Implementation

Goals, initiatives of policy makers x public opinion and reality at schools

Systems approach in education

Pilsen region case

Training and supervision

System approach in education among actors in education

Department of Education of the Pilsen Region, National Pedagogical Institute, Regional Center of Education, The middle article of support of the Ministry of Education, Youth and Sports, Employment Pact of Pilsen Region, Faculty of Education of West Bohemian University, Pedagogical-psychological counseling, Headteachers of schools, local policy makers

Systems approach in education

Pilsen region case

Long-term plan for education and development of the educational system of the Pilsen Region 2024 - 2028

Human capital development strategy – in a process

Systems approach in education

Pilsen region case

Human capital development strategy – in a proces

Education as a Topic in Society

- Communication strategy
 - Why Education matters?
 - What is the Future of Education?
 - What will be the role of Teachers?
 - How will help AI – „Socrates in the pocket“
 - What else if not Education?

Systems approach in education

Pilsen region case

– desired public opinion

In a present changing world, education is considered by the general and professional public to be the only key to ensuring personal and regional prosperity and well-being.

Systems approach in education

Pilsen region case

– desired public opinion

Teachers represent the edge of the sword of a competitive and satisfied society.

Systems approach in education

In which EU countries and regions are teachers respected as doctors?

Mr. Vlastimil Volak,
Headteacher, Training College and Secondary School of Electrical Engineering in Pilsen

„in the EU: A Shared Challenge and Good Practices”
November 19th in Brussels, Belgium

